Frequently Asked Questions:

I have no idea how much wedding flowers cost. How do I set a budget?

We recommend looking on various wedding websites like The Knot and popular wedding blogs. Each wedding is unique, so we recommend a consultation.

PLEASE NOTE: We do have minimums for certain venues and high-demand months.

What should I expect at my consultation and how far out from my wedding date should I schedule it?

We recommend booking your consultation as soon as you have your venue, your dress and a general color pallet. Before your consultation we will ask you to send us your "Inspiration Photos" so we can start thinking about your style. After your consultation we will send you a detailed proposal. We only take a certain number of weddings each day and weekend so the sooner the better! You can access our calendar and book your consultation directly on our website.

Why does my wedding date affect the price I pay for flowers?

If your wedding falls within the days of a major holiday for the floral industry we will pay a premium for your flowers (i.e. Valentine's Day, Mother's Day). You may also be asking for a flower that is not in season. While most flowers are available year round, a flower that is out of season is more costly. Abby's will take these factors into consideration when detailing your proposal and mention this at your consultation. Once you receive a proposal from us you are guaranteed that price.

Can I bring in some of my own decor? Who sets that up?

This is something we are happy to discuss at your consultation. We can certainly incorporate some of your personal items into the design and include the set-up in our installation fee. Some of your decor items may be set up by your venue or wedding coordinator.

Who is responsible for clean-up at the end of the night?

It depends. Some of the vases and decor we use are yours to take or give to family and friends. Some you will rent from us. Depending on the venue, we may be required to take all of our merchandise that evening so a clean-up fee will apply. You will also be given the option to return merchandise to our design shop after the event.

I have heard the groom's family should pay for the flowers. Is that true?

In the "Everything Wedding Book" by Shelly Hagen, traditionally the Groom's family pays for the bride's bouquet, the mothers and grandmothers corsages and the boutineers for the groom's family. The bride and her family pay for the rest. This is definitely an older custom and in our experience, not observed much anymore.

What is the payment schedule?

Once you are ready to book you will pay a deposit to secure your date. Your final payment will be due 30 days prior to your wedding date. Once the final payment is made will not be able to make any deletions on your order.
